Directions (Q.1-5)

Read the passage and answer the questions based on it-

In towns and cities of north and west India, kite flying is a craze. People fly their kites mostly from the roofs of their houses. At some places kites are flown from open grounds. Being a fun sports all times, kites are flown throughout the year. However there are some special occasions, on which every enthusiast involves himself in PatangBaazi. These occasions include Makar Sankranti, Basant Panchami, Raksha Bandhan, and Independence Day.

BasantPanchami is one of the biggest festivals of North India. It heralds both the approach of the harvest and the end of winter. This spring festival is celebrated by flying kites, mainly of yellow colour, which represents the ripening mustard in the fields. From the morning onwards, the roofs of almost every house become full of young and old keeping their kites afloat. By early afternoon the sky becomes peppered with kites of different colours and sizes. The fun of Basant Panchami does not preclude the intense competition that is a unique north indian phenomenon.- cutting each other's kite lines. Each time a kite's lifeline is severed, a cheer, "bo-kata" is sent up by the victor.

Read the passage and answer the questions based on it-

It could be a scene straight out of a horror film. Only it was a reality in suburban Mumbai. Rain lashed on the ground. A hundred children wailed in terror in a cramped, dark hall. Water gushed in from all sides and inched up. The inmates of Additional Bal Griha of the Children's aid Society mostly terrified children, sang their daily prayer: "Itni Shakti hummedena data." Asma, however, was the odd one out. She started calculating how soon the children will start drowning. "I could only think of one thing that I couldn't bear to see the smaller ones drown. I am their didi. She picked up two of the smaller kids and jumped into the water nearly five feet of dirty, black liquid. " I don't know how to swim. So slowly I moved across the slippery ground, keeping my head up to keep the water from getting into my mouth and nose." She made over a dozen such trips, carrying nearly 40 kids on her shoulders to safety. Wasn't she scared? "Nothing scares me." Why didn't any of the other inmates join her? "Oh, well, I'm the tallest!" The girl doesn't know who or where her parents are ("Kya pata" She says). Nor does she care to know about her life history from the orphanage files. But Asma certainly knows more about parenting than most. She loves to watch TV serials.

Directions (Q.11-15)

Read the passage and answer the questions based on it-

In 1933-34 I got my first chance to play in Test cricket in India. The M.C.C team under Douglas Jardine was in our country to play three Test matches. Fortunately I was able to do sufficiently well to retain my place in all the three tests.

During the Test matches my younger sister, Laxmi had given me an autograph book to get the autographs of visiting players. I had carefully put down M.C.C touring Team -1933-34 on one of the pages. Under the heading I took autographs of all the 6 players who visited India.

Two months later I had an occasion to approach Gandhiji for his autograph which my sister was very keen to have. There were quite a few people present when I made my request. Gandhiji smiled and leafed through the pages of the autograph book and then underneath the names of the M.C.C players wrote- '17- M.K.Gandhi'. I immediately understood the greatness of the man and what had prompted him. By that unforgettable signature as the seventeenth man of the M. C. C team he showed that although he was prepared to fight the British Government tooth and nail for the independence of India, he had nothing against the common man of England and was prepared to put himself down as the seventeenth man of the English Cricket team.
